PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

Hello Members,

March is here and my spring has already sprung. I for one am ready to say "Good Bye" to the cold and "Hello" to the warm weather. Beautiful flowers, picnics and getting my boat on the water.

If anyone wants to go for a sunny Sunday boat ride, just call me and be my guest. I'll bring the boat, the burgers and the beer and you can be captain for a day.

We had no March Board meeting, so nothing to report to the Members there. To better serve our Members I'm trying to get everyone's birth date and PRP designation (ie; RL, CRL, etc.) Please forward this information to myself or Marty, so that we can accumulate the information and get all the designations in the next year's roster, thank you.

A big part of my Presidential commitment is to serve the Members the best that I and GPLA can. As you know, the Board of Directors have already approved many of the great Member benefits for a 6 month trial period, that I and others have been campaigning for and even more Membership benefits

Don't forget:

Gourmet meal and refreshments at every Membership meetingFREE.

Chance for $100 and other door prizes.....FREE.

Attendance raffle for PIN kit and other great prizes...FREE.

Association subsidized and partial subsidization of programs and events....FREE.

Run for Row Officer or Board of Director, Membership....FREE.

First to solve the riddle gets a prize....FREE.

Help out at June clean-up meeting....FREE.

I just threw that last one in to see if you were paying attention. But seriously, we want to help you in any way we can. Just ask any one of the Row Officers or Board Members and we will do our best to make it happen.

All that we want from you is to be a loyal Member. Please come to the meetings and most definitely attend your Convention & Education Conference in September and be engaged.

Gratefully Submitted,

Your President

Sven K. Hellwig Sr., CRL

Membership Notes

OUTSTANDING MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

March Member of the Month, Mr. Alvin Jackson

Mr. Alvin Jackson, Member #295, since November 2013. While Alvin hasn't been a Member as long as some, he has shown an outstanding effort his revered association and has proven his loyalty, dedication and compassion in many ways. Always volunteering, showing up early for the meetings to help vacuum or wipe down the tables and other things and always doing his best to attend every meeting. That statement carries a lot of weight, in the fact that Alvin lives in Clearville, PA, 203 miles away, 3 hours and 16 min. drive and that's one way. It's such a long drive, sometimes difficult at night, that Alvin often spends the night at a nearby Church and acquaintances, after the meeting on Monday. NOW that's dedication!!

Alvin for that and more, we say "Thank You" and accept our small token of appreciation by making you March's Member of the Month. Congrats to You and we hope there are many more meetings in your future.

On behalf of GPLA, submitted by Sven K. Hellwig Sr., CRL President

A members response to my February Newsletter Business Article.

Dear Marty, I had to comment on the article about figuring the cost of doing business. Back in the early '80's, I took a class on business management at ALOA and as a result of that class, I raised my rate from $15/hr to $40 per hour in one jump.

Did I lose business because I was 3-4 times higher than competitors? NO! I gained business - customers knew I was serious about my business and knew I was a PROFESSIONAL, not some fly-by-night car-trunk guy who proclaimed to be a locksmith.

My clientele went from mediocre, one-night-stand jobs to long-term business, industrial, commercial clients, who called me on a regular basis. Increasing my rate also meant that I could have money to work with and could expand my business and meet the needs. I also reduced my advertising costs because my name was being passed from one business to another as reference of the work I was doing. Other services are charging $100+ per hour. We're as or more professional than them, so charge accordingly.

Federal ADA Title III lawsuits hit all-time high
By Minh Vu and Kristina Launey - 02/28/2020
Send in by Murray Bilker

The year 2019 was another record-breaking year for Federal ADA Title III lawsuits. Plaintiffs filed at least 11,053 ADA Title III lawsuits in federal court in 2019 – 890 (or 8.8%) more than in 2018. This is the highest number since we started tracking these lawsuits in 2013, when there were only 2,722 such lawsuits.

These numbers include Title III lawsuits filed on all grounds – physical facilities, websites and mobile applications, service animals, sign language interpreters and more. The numbers do not include the significant number of disability access lawsuits filed in state courts which are much more difficult to accurately track.

California, New York, and Florida continued to lead the country with the highest number of lawsuits by a long shot, with 4,794, 2,635, and 1,885 lawsuits, respectively. These three states saw 84% of all the ADA Title III lawsuits nationwide, with California and New York each breaking their own records for the number of ADA Title III lawsuits.

Georgia, Texas, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Jersey, Colorado, and Alabama also made the top ten but trailed very far behind with Georgia leading the second pack with 243 lawsuits.

Arizona fell out of the top ten with a dramatic decrease in lawsuit numbers (94 in 2018 to 13 in 2019), replaced by Illinois which had 190 lawsuits in 2019 – a 171% increase over 2018.

Businesses in North Dakota, South Dakota, and Vermont continued to be ADA Title III lawsuit-free for the third consecutive year (2017-2019).
